DELMAS NOW IN CHARGE OF CASE

With Other Thaw Lawyers in Advisory Capacities; Evidence Tends to Show Architect was not the Best Sort of a Man

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.)

Delmas, in charge of Thaw's case, and Gleason as merely a spectator, brought the prisoner's hopes from darkness into the light at the morning session. An effort to remove from the jury the disastrous impression of Dr. Wiley's failure as an expert was made partially successful.

Bowman was a good witness and Jerome could not discount his testimony. It is apparent Delmas's plans are to set before the jury clearly all the details leading up to the tragedy before he will attempt to prove insanity.

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—Following a council of the attorneys for Thaw previous to the opening of court this morning it was announced that Delmas, assisted by O'Reilly will be in charge of the defense throughout the remainder of the trial.

Gleason, Hartridge, McPike and Peabody will act in an advisory capacity.

Jerome opened the proceedings with a long objection to the introduction of certain testimony admitted yesterday, and discussed the insanity tests.

The countess of Yarmouth, Mrs. Carnegie, Mrs. William Thaw, Josiah and Edward Thaw entered during Jerome's speech, the prisoner faintly smiling.

Delmas called Benjamin Bowman, doorkeeper at Madison Square theater to the stand. Bowman said he knew both White and Thaw.

Delmas's questions led him to state that in 1903 White came to him after a show and asked him if Evelyn Nesbitt had gone home.

"I told him yes," continued Bowman, "and White said I was a d—n liar, using much profanity. I told him to go on the stage and see for himself. Returning he drew a revolver and showed it to me, saying, 'I'll kill that s— b— before daylight.'"

A crowd flocked into the court room this afternoon, gaily dressed women giving it the appearance of a matinee.

Thaw was displeased and the judge ordered the doors locked and to permit no more to enter. A number of newspaper men and one of Thaw's counsel were shut out.

Jerome began the afternoon session by opinions of the court of appeals to the effect that lay witnesses are not competent to pass upon the mental condition of the defendant.

BURNED BY BRACE- LETS DIPPED IN ACID

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 6.—Three high school girls—Hazel Reiser, Bertha Hoffman and Lillian Kern—were injured so badly while being initiated into the Alpha Gamma sorority that two of them will be marked for life. Physicians were called to attend them today and the facts became known. At the initiation, which took place a few nights ago, the girls were compelled to wear bracelets which had been dipped in acid. The acid burned into the flesh, and they suffered so severely that, after keeping their injuries secret for some time, they were compelled to call in doctors. Miss Reiser and Miss Kern were injured most severely.

GRAND-DAUGHTER OF LINCOLN WON'T FIGHT DIVORCE

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 6.—Robert T. Lincoln, father of Mrs. Jessie Lincoln Beckwith, who with Mrs. Beckwith is stopping in Augusta, stated that the divorce proceedings begun by Beckwith were no surprise to his family, as the couple had been living apart for several years. Mr. Lincoln said it was a plain case of "quits." No opposition, he asserted, would be raised in the case of his daughter. As the couple had been living in Iowa previous to separation, and the law in that state requires only two years of separation in order to obtain a divorce on desertion charges, it is believed the divorce can be secured with ease by Beckwith.

PELOES TO WED HER SOLDIER-LOVER

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 6.—Successfully eluding her objecting parents, Miss Lesta Newman of Bussey, Ia., came to Des Moines and was married to Lieut. Robert Blaine, a cousin of James G. Blaine. They will leave in a few days for the Philippines.

Miss Newman and Lieut. Blaine have been lovers for three years. Her parents objected to the match, as they did not want her to become an officer's wife.

Lieut. Blaine was given leave by his colonel, at Fort Robinson, Neb., and came to Des Moines on Friday, met Miss Newman, and the wedding followed.

Retail Liquor Dealers' association is holding its regular meeting this afternoon in Odd Fellows' hall, and a number of cigar dealers and others have been invited to attend.

President C. S. Snyder said this afternoon that no particular action was contemplated upon the matter of the slot machine prohibition. He said resolutions might be passed and some recommendations made with regard to the matter, but there would be no radical action, in any event.

GETS $20 FOR A WOLF'S SCALP

Ernest Kinney, of the town of Hamilton, near West Salem, brought the scalp of a large wolf to the county clerk's office this morning and received $10.00 and a check for $10 more, from the state.

This is the third wolf Mr. Kinney has captured this season and he says that there is still one more which he intends to get in the near future.

The wolves have been killing his sheep and upon receiving the bounty today Mr. Kinney remarked it would serve to pay for some of the sheep he had lost.

It was caught in a trap.

DRUNKS JAILED

Two habitual drunkards were arraigned before Judge Brindley this morning.

One was Charles High, an expert machinist by trade who had been offered a position at $4 per day but refused, preferring to lead the idle life of a drunk. He was given sixty days at hard labor.

The other was John Omen. He was given forty-five days. It was remarked that they were cases of "high" life and bad "omens."

WEDDING AT BARRE MILLS

Miss Amanda Meier and William Drecktrah of Barre Mills were married this morning by the Rev. Mittelstaed of the German Lutheran church. The bridesmaid was Miss Emma Meier, a sister of the bride, and the flower girl was Miss Emma Drecktrah, a sister of the groom.

The assistants of the groom were William Meier, a brother of the bride, and John Drecktrah, a brother.

After the ceremony they repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Miller, where a bountiful and elaborate wedding dinner was served to a large number of relatives and friends including nearly every resident of the village.

The bride and groom received a large number of useful and beautiful presents and a large reception will be tendered them this evening.

WARNED HIM AGAINST US- ING CREOSOTE

Austin's Mayor is

BRICK IS BEST PAVEMENT

Authorities Say Creosote Block is Untried and Not Satisfactory

Warned by experts everywhere against the use of creosote block pavement, Mayor Sutton of Austin, Minn., left for his home today after visiting La Crosse authorities, determined for the present at least, brick is the most acceptable pavement. Austin will brick pave its thoroughfare from the depot to the center of town, as a result of his investigations.

Mayor Sutton says Austin has a block of creosote block but as it is on a little traveled street there is no way of telling what it will be worth as pavement. In the course of his investigations the mayor wrote the city engineers of many of the large cities for information on the new pavement, and while none condemned it, few advised its use. They characterized it as new, untried and unsafe to install in large quantities.

La Crosse has a couple of blocks of this pavement, but it is unlikely any more will be laid until that now down is more thoroughly tested.

STATE MAY VOTE ON SUFFRAGE

That is Among the Many Reform Bills Introduced at Session Today

(Scripps-McRae Dispatch.)

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 6.—If a resolution by Stout, in the senate, is adopted the people will vote on woman suffrage in the fall of 1908. He claims there is a strong sentiment to give the matter a test vote.

Rummell introduced a bill in the senate that cities of the first, second and third class regulate their own telephone rates. This would benefit La Crosse. Also to abolish contributory negligence as personal injury cases.

Roeth, of Grant county, introduced a bill in the assembly that all autoists stop to meet a team on the country roads.

Bell, of Racine, has a bill to require fenders on street and interurban cars between Aldridge and Milwaukee and that all street cars be heated to 65 degrees.

Ledvey, of Manitowoc, introduced a bill to submit all laws to the people upon a 5 per cent petition of electors.

Only Wisconsin Materials
There is going to be a contest this year over the question of the material to be used in the building of the new capitol.

Senator Wright of Merrill has introduced a bill which limits the use of the material to Wisconsin granite. A similar measure has been presented to the assembly by Edward W. Le Roy of Marinette. The members are generally inclined to be favorable to the bill, the opposition will come from outside influence exerted by other firms beyond the boundaries of the state.

The Litchfield, Can., team has been ordered to report here May 1 for nine days' training with the locals.

Catcher Killian will come back this spring. Matt O'Hearn, who played with the Chicago city league last summer, who is a good outfielder and a heavy handed hitter, has been signed.

The baseball association will not ask for donations this year, but will sell semi-season tickets at a small reduction, expecting friends of the team to buy them to guarantee the attendance.

Turnstiles will be installed at the principal entrances at the grounds to check up the ticket takers.

SWELLHEADED AND INSOLENT--BRAGG

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Feb. 6.—General Edward S. Bragg, formerly consul to Hong Kong, today declared all the talk of war with Japan was "poppycock." He said:

"The Japanese are the most insinuating, swell-headed class of people in the world. The recent boycott on American goods in China was caused largely by the Japanese who discovered they could not compete with the Americans. They stamped American goods with Japanese trademarks and forgot to erase the American firms' names on the other side of the packages."

"One Chinaman is worth two Japs as far as character and manhood is concerned."

Gift of Millionaire Announced Today

ASSURES A NEW BUILDING

Directors Elated, and Expect to Start Canvass in Spring

Directors of the Young Men's Christian association this afternoon announced the donation of a magnificent gift to the association as the foundation of a new building fund.

The gift is made by W. W. Cargill, with the only provision that a building to cost in the neighborhood of $100 be constructed.

The donor has always shown a deep interest in the progress of the association work, and in view of the pressing need for adequate quarters for so important an institution, the gift does not come as a surprise to those who are acquainted with Mr. Cargill's interest in the work of the association.

Secretary J. W. Stafford gave out the information that one interested in the work had made the pledge of $25,000, but after some inquiry the directors gave their consent to the publication of the whole story.

Secretary Stafford announces that it is now planned to make arrangements for a general canvass for added donations in the spring, and it is probable that the work will progress so far that it will be possible to begin construction of one of the most modern of Y. M. C. A. buildings next summer.

Details as to the plans, the site, etc., will be decided upon subsequently by the directors.

A Reasonable Plea For The Stomach

If Your Stomach is Lacking in Digestive Power, Why Not Help the Stomach Do Its Work—Especially When It Costs Nothing to Try?

Not with drugs, but with a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach. Scientific analysis shows that digestion requires pepsin, nitrogenous ferments, and the secretion of hydrochloric acid. When your food fails to digest, it is proof positive that some of these agents are lacking in your digestive apparatus.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain nothing but these natural elements necessary to digestion and when placed at work in the weak stomach and small intestines, supply what these organs need. They stimulate the gastric glands and gradually bring the digestive organs back to their normal condition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been subjected to critical chemical tests at home and abroad and are found to contain nothing but natural digestives.

Chemical Laboratory. Telegraphic address, "Diffindo," London. Telephone No. 11029 Central. 20 Cullum St., Fenchurch St., E. C.

London, 9th Aug., 1905. I have analyzed most carefully a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets (which I bought myself at a city chemist's shop for the purpose), manufactured by the F. A. Stuart Co., Temple Chambers, London, E. C., and have to report that I cannot find any trace of vegetable or mineral poisons. Knowing the ingredients of the tablets, I am of opinion that they are admirably adapted for the purpose for which they are intended.

(Signed) John R. Brooke, F. I. C., F. C. S.

There is no secret in the preparation of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Their composition is commonly known among physicians, as is shown by the recommendations of 40,000 licensed physicians in the United States and Canada. They are the most popular of all remedies for indigestion, dyspepsia, water brash, insomnia, loss of appetite, melancholia, constipation, dysentery and kindred diseases originating from improper dissolution and assimilation of foods, because they are thoroughly reliable and harmless to man or child.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are at once a safe and a powerful remedy, one grain of these tablets being strong enough (by test) to digest 3,000 grains of steak, eggs and other foods. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest your food for you when your stomach can't.

Ask your druggist for a fifty cent package or send to us direct for a free trial sample package and you will be surprised at the result. F. A. Stuart Co., 64 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

BLIND MAN SPURNS A FAKE BABY

WABASH, Ind., Feb. 6.—Eli Middleton today compelled his wife to return to Fort Wayne the child she obtained there and which she claimed was born to her yesterday, attempting to deceive her husband, who is blind and who is anxious for an heir. Mrs. Middleton's plan was exposed by a physician, who, arriving at her home shortly after she asserted the baby had been born, declaring it was at least three days old.

BAILEY SOLD LUMBER STOCK

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 6.—B. F. Yokum, chairman of the Frisco and Rock Islands executive boards, testified in the Bailey legislative investigation that he purchased 14,000 or 15,000 shares of stock of the Kirby Lumber company and that negotiations for the purchase were conducted through Senator Bailey, who, he understood, was acting as attorney for the Kirby Lumber company. Bailey never represented him before congress, he said.

Chairman O'Neal read a letter which Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, Tex., had received from Representative W. A. Cocke, who filed the charges against Bailey, in which Cocke said the committee was partisan in its conduct of the investigation. Mr. O'Neal characterized the charge as false.

Mr. Cocke filed a reply to O'Neal, in which he affirms the opinion expressed by him in the letter.

REVIVES WHOLE ILLINOIS TOWN

ABINGDON, Ill., Feb. 6.—The four weeks' revival which has just closed at Abingdon left practically the whole place converted. Last Thursday, when a careful canvass of houses was made, it was reported that out of a population of 2,000 all but 180 professed to be Christians.

The whole effort of the revival then was directed to the redemption of these few, and the campaign was kept up until late Sunday night, with the result that nearly all were converted. The revival was carried on in a large tabernacle, erected for the purpose, and was conducted by Evangelists Hicks and Galloway. The attendance on Sunday was 5,000, many coming from near-by towns. As a preparation for the final service, the whole city spent Friday in prayer and fasting, and that night there were forty conversions.

The net results of the meetings were 749 conversions in a city already strongly religious. The demand for Bibles was such that the local stock was entirely exhausted.

Conversions at Winchester

WINCHESTER, Ill., Feb. 6.—The union revival meeting here closed Monday night with 231 conversions. Many of these converts are prominent business men of the town. The work of Evangelist Pratt will be long remembered, as this was the most successful revival ever held here. A free will offering of nearly $600 was made for the evangelist and his singer at the Sunday service.

1,050 Converts at Kankakee

KANKAKEE, Ill., Feb. 6.—Rev. William Sunday closed the fourth week of a revival here Sunday night with 1,054 converts during the nine days in which an invitation has been extended. Sunday afternoon George C. Morgan, manager of the David Bradley factory and formerly of Chicago, was among the converts.

SENATOR DRYDEN ISSUES A STATEMENT EX- TROLLING SELF

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—United States Senator John F. Dryden has made public a statement which he was to have delivered at a conference of the New Jersey state legislature at Trenton in the interest of his candidacy for re-election. After he had prepared the address, however, he withdrew from the race.

In his statement Mr. Dryden replies at length to adverse criticism directed at him by his political opponents since the beginning of the present senatorial campaign in New Jersey. He says he understands that the opposition to his re-election was not based on any act of his as a senator, but upon impressions that his business created conditions incompatible with the discharge of his public duties.

He declares that the investigations into the large insurance companies failed to show other than that the affairs of the Prudential, of which he is president, were administered wisely and faithfully and in the best interest of the humblest policyholder.

"It appears to have been suggested," he adds, "that the personal associations incident to a participation in the executive management of a great financial institution have tended to deprive me of a knowledge of the conditions of life surrounding the great mass of my fellow citizens, and robbed me of sympathy in the struggles and ambitions of those who are wage earners and recipients of moderate incomes."

"If I were convinced that this were true I should regret it far more deeply than the loss of a seat in the senate of the United States. In my boyhood and youth I struggled with conditions identical with those with which I now am charged to be out of sympathy."

Continuing, Senator Dryden entered at some length into a refutation of charges that he and his associates in the Prudential profited unfairly by their connection with the company through the legislative act of 1880, depriving the policyholders of the right to vote for directors. In this connection he says:

"Not a single policyholder has ever suggested that the legislation of 1880 deprived him of any right or has said that he was aggrieved by this enactment."

Referring to the charges that at one time money was offered as an inducement for votes for Mr. Dryden in the party caucus, the senator declared:

"This election occurred five years ago. During those five years, so far as I am concerned, these affairs never suggested the existence of the alleged fact to which they now give the widest publicity. They waited to tell their story until the only lips that can deny it have been closed by death. Even now they do not dare to impugn me or to assert that it was even claimed by the man whom they assert approached them that he was authorized to do so by me or by any of my friends."

"Unless I could be elected without the expenditure of $1 for the purpose of improperly influencing the mem-

A GOOD PRESCRIPTION.

To relieve a cough or break up a cold in twenty-four hours, the following simple formula, the ingredients of which can be obtained of any good prescription druggist at small cost, is all that will be required: Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), one-half ounce; Glycerine, two ounces; good Whiskey, a half pint. Shake well and take in teaspoonful doses every four hours. The desired results can not be obtained unless the ingredients are pure. It is therefore better to purchase each separately and prepare the mixture yourself. Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) should be purchased in the original half-ounce vials, which druggists buy for dispensing. Each vial is securely sealed in a round wooden case, which protects the oil from exposure to light. Around the wooden case is an engraved wrapper, with the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), guaranteed under the Food and Drugs Act, of June 30th, 1906, serial number 451, prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio—plainly printed thereon. There are many imitations and cheap productions of pine, but these only create nausea, and never effect the desired results.

BASEBALL ON SUNDAY IF FREE

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 6.—Sunday baseball without an admission charge may be permitted in this state the coming season. The special recess legislative committee which has been investigating the subject of Sunday laws with a view to codifying and revising all the statutes relating to the observance of the Sabbath completed its report, which will be submitted to the legislature. There will be majority and minority reports.

In all probability the famous old blue laws will be superseded by statutes more in accord with modern conditions. The whole committee is in accord on the broad question of outdoor sports and recreations on Sunday. The committee declares in favor of such outdoor sports and recreations after 1 p. m. as will not interfere with public or private worship, or be a trespass on any public or private rights.

It sanctions or permits no recreations or sports, however, for which an admission is charged, or for which prizes are offered.

Thus, fishing, golf, baseball, or any other sport, indulged in Sunday afternoon, without interfering with the rights of others, the committee is in favor of, believing that these recreations, innocent on week day, cannot be wrong on Sunday.

The whole committee is agreed also on the question of "Sunday work." The presence of the words "works of necessity or charity," has led to quibbling and confusion, says the committee. They are far too restrictive. To these words should be added, for fuller definition, the words, "works or acts needful during the day for good order, the health, safety or comfort of the community."

The most important feature of the majority report will be a recommendation against any theatrical or musical entertainment on Sunday save the giving of concerts of sacred or classic music, and such entertainments as are given by public authority.

The minority takes a broader view. It dislikes the words in the existing laws permitting "religious and charitable" entertainments. It says the greatest hypocrisy in connection with the working of the Sunday law has been made possible because of these words.

The question of wholesome entertainments on Sunday, the minority holds, is one which the people themselves ultimately must settle, hence it leaves the matter in the hands of local authorities, without censorship, as at first contemplated.

"SPIRIT FIGHTS WHEN ARRESTED

PITTSBURG, Pa., Feb. 6.—The police raided a spiritualist meeting in the Oakland residence district. The medium, the "spirit" and twenty-three other persons were hauled to the police station and locked up for a time, charged with violating a city ordinance. Soon all were out on bail. The "spirit," who was six feet high and weighed 180 pounds, put up a fearful battle when the light was turned on and it gave the detectives all they could do for several minutes. The police got into the meeting in the dark, and at a signal turned their electric lights on the medium, who was caught talking through a horn, impersonating the voice of a wealthy man some time dead. The man's son was almost delirious with joy at hearing "papa's" voice, but when he saw

For him. See? No more around. The halls of state will be found. Both soon and late, For we insist. Without debate. The lobbyist. Must pull his freight. 'Twill seldom be. For him to wait. For the decree. Has sealed his fate. 'Twere waste of time. To set his bait; That petty crime Is out of date. So let him smash. His little slate. And keep his cash. To celebrate. Begone, old man! This talk is straight. For you a can— Yes, that's the gate. Yes, little one, We're done With you. So now skiddoo, Be few. Please do. We'll try our best To run the land Without your talent. Understand? That, sisters, is an ample Sample Of what you hear At the state house this year. The lobbyist. Is on the list Of those who must go. But will he? Oh, Will he? Just wait, impatient one, and see!

AMERICAN GIRL WEDS IN LONDON

(Tribune Special Service.)

LONDON, Feb. 6.—A fashionable assemblage that included many of the prominent members of the American colony filled St. Margaret's church, Westminster, today at the wedding of Miss Alice Marquand, granddaughter of the late Henry Marquand, who was one of the founders of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York and Mr. Alan Fullerton Neighbors Got Fooled.

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive; but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good sound health," writes Mrs. Eva Uncapher, of Grovetown, Stark Co., Ind. This King of cough and cold cures, and healer of throat and lungs, is guaranteed by O. T. Erhart, druggist, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

AT THE THEATERS

North Brothers, Comedians

"Utah," a Mormon play in four acts, will be presented this evening by North Brothers' company, and is claimed to be one of the best in the company's extensive repertoire.

The management has decided to give daily matinees. "The Sins of a City" pleased a good sized audience last evening and "The Country Girl" was produced at the matinee this afternoon. The orchestra is pleasing everyone and all go early in order to hear their concerts before the performance.

"The Time, the Place and the Girl" A treat is in store for theater-goers this season. Mr. Arthur Deagon is to occupy the position his talent warrants, having been signed for "Happy Johnny Hicks" in "The Time, the Place and the Girl," Chicago's latest and most popular music play, as presented at the LaSalle theater over 220 times to crowded houses, under the able direction of Askin and Singer, at the La Crosse theater Thursday, Feb. 12.

Mr. Deagon will be remembered as creating the principal comedy character in the original New York production of "The Belle of New York," also the principal comedy role in the original "Peggy from Paris" production. Mr. Deagon as "Hicks" could not be duplicated, as the character requires none other than the peculiar and only Deagon.

"The Holy City"

For this, the third season of Gordon and Bennett's wonderful drama "The Holy City," every degree of theatrical representation has been made to excel. The allegory, musical, spectacle and thrilling situations so greatly enjoyed last year, the large company of superior talent, costumed in garments of almost bewildering beauty, is stronger and more brilliantly arrayed, and additional accessories have been provided. Nothing more dramatically complete will be seen this season and it is of pleasant record that last year's success is being surpassed. It is confidently expected that this engagement will be to the capacity of the La Crosse theater when it is presented on Wednesday, Feb. 13.

Out of 3,058 accidents due to vehicles in London in September but 250 were caused by automobiles or motorcycles.

TWELVE MILE RIDE

Trouble, But He Had an Object.

We are willing to take trouble to get things we value.

A Mo. man was so much benefited by changing from coffee to Postum, that he was willing to ride about 12 miles to get it. His daughter writes: "My mother, father and myself have been drinking Postum for two years and have all been greatly benefited by its use."

"Before we dropped coffee and began to use Postum, Mother was poorly nourished and weighed only 95 lbs. After she used it a few weeks she began to gain in weight and she kept getting stronger and better until now she weighs about 150 lbs., and we all believe it is due to leaving off coffee and drinking Postum Food Coffee, because she has taken no medicine of any kind. While she drank coffee she was very nervous, but since using Postum she has no such trouble."

"Father was troubled with indigestion, when he drank coffee, but Postum has changed all that. He says he likes the taste of it much better than coffee. When I happen to be visiting and drink coffee I am usually sick a few hours, everything sour on my stomach and I get very nervous."

"We find there's a big difference in the way Postum is prepared. It should be boiled properly according to directions—then its flavor is fine."

"Father rides about 12 miles to get it. He says he would not do without Postum if he had to go still farther to get it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little booklet, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

The Thaw-White Tragedy

Principals In a Roof Garden Murder That Has Attracted Worldwide Attention

The Slayer a Man of Unusual Impulses, Who Made a Trip to Europe Only to Satisfy a Cigarette Whim—His Victim, Who Had Quite Unusual Talents, Was a Poet in Brick, Granite and Marble—Remarkable Beauty of the Woman Responsible for the Tragedy

By ROBERTUS LOVE.

TWO men, one woman—tragedy! It is an ancient formula. Its latest application is responsible for the Thaw murder trial in New York. The widespread interest in this trial is justified by the extraordinary antecedents of the tragedy and by the personalities of the slayer and the slain. Stanford White, victim of the bullets from Harry Thaw's revolver, was a man of quite unusual talents. Harry Thaw is a man of unusual impulses. If an ordinary millionaire had shot an ordinary architect on account of an ordinary woman the tragedy would not have attracted very wide attention. There are plenty of millionaires, plenty of architects and plenty of women. But here we have two men whose lives have been so different from the life of the average man that a tragedy in which they are principals becomes more than a mere homicide.

Thaw is to be defended on the ground that "the unwritten law" justified him in killing White. From San Francisco has come a lawyer, Delphin M. Delmas, noted for his signal success in clearing men charged with murder on the unwritten law theory, to direct the defense of young Thaw. The unwritten law of course is not law at all, but brought dainty gowns and laces and jewelry, all of which enhanced beauty it was a wonderful discovery for the little Pennsylvania schoolgirl. She was taken to New York, where beauty attracts more attention than in Philadelphia, and there she posed for more artists and received more money. But the pay was not enough to buy costly gowns, so the child's mother made Evelyn's gowns herself.

It was a dazzlingly beautiful world for a dazzlingly beautiful girl. All the men were so kind and so generous and so attentive. The famous artists petted and posed her. Charles Dana Gibson drew her in a picture which he called "The Eternal Question." Celebrated painters declared that her eyes were the most beautiful in the world. One great man, Stanford White, fifty years old, admired her so much that he thought she should be on the stage. He was known as one who frequently befriended chorus girls and struggling actresses—if they were pretty girls. Mr. White was an artist, and all artists admire beauty.

So the little girl, with scarcely any education above the three R's, went into a chorus. She appeared for a brief time in two or three companies, but nobody discovered that the beauty had any talent for the stage. On continued to enjoy the full income of his interest in the estate, which was $50,000 a year. Mrs. Thaw and the other heirs took pity on Harry and consented to let him have his full income right along. He was then only a child.

Parisian Beauty Dinner.

Thaw became a spender. He first attracted newspaper notice by giving a remarkable dinner in Paris. All his guests were women, and all beautiful women, the most beautiful to be found in the gay French capital. Each guest received as a present a costly jewel. The dinner and its accessories cost Thaw $50,000. Later he gave a similar dinner in New York. Little Evelyn Nesbit being the hostess. Evelyn selected the guests and tried to outdo Thaw's Parisian dinner in the beauty collection.

The Thaw-Nesbit escapades in Paris, London and New York finally created such unwholesome notoriety for the Thaw family at Pittsburgh that the young man's mother permitted him, at the immature age of thirty-two, to wed the former artist's model and stop the scandal. So Thaw got his bride and kept his income—that is, until he could spend it. Young Mrs. Thaw took lessons which were supposed to fit her for polite society in the millionaire class, and she aspired to shine as a social queen in Pittsburgh. From time to time the lights of Broadway lured the couple to New York. The Thaws had lost their premier place on the front pages of sensational journals when came the tragedy of last June.

One of the best known men in New York was Stanford White. A man may do great things in that mighty city and remain a stranger to the people. Shakespeare might write his tragedies there and die comparatively unknown, because the literary masterpiece is a monument visible only to the intellectual elect. But Stanford White built monuments to his genius visible to the naked eye. He was an architect of substantial buildings instead of airy rhymes.

New York is rich with the products of his genius. He was a poet in brick and granite and marble. One of his accomplished dreams is the Washington arch at the foot of Fifth avenue. He designed the beautiful clubhouses occupied by the Century, the Metropolitan and the University clubs. Several Fifth avenue palaces are of his conception. The new building of the New York university, his alma mater, grew from his artistic brain. As an interior decorator he shone with equal brilliance. Just as a pastime White painted in water colors, and competent critics have said that his work was equal to that of Turner. Other cities—Richmond, Washington, Newport—contain permanent monuments to his architectural genius, and in New York that greatest of pleasure houses and convention halls, the Madison Square Garden, where he met his tragic fate, was designed altogether by Stanford White.

A Constant Creator.

This man worked. Every day he did a day's work in his offices. It is said of him that he applied himself with diligence to his profession during the working hours of the day throughout his career. His visible works are proof of this. He could not have achieved such results without intense application. He was a lifelong producer, a constant creator. His works live after him. The good that he did in producing masterpieces of architecture for the enjoyment of all who see them cannot be interred with his bones.

So notable were the works of Stanford White that he became popularly known even in the thronging metropolis where he lived and wrought. And among the other artists, the painters, the actors, the men of letters, he was well and widely known. Enjoying the financial fruits of his genius while he lived, Stanford White had money to spend, and he spent it. Everything that he desired was his for the price, and he had the price. After his day's work he played. From the shrine of art he turned to the shrine of nature, where also he worshipped beauty. That was his pastime and his passion.

Shocked the Country.

Observed from any viewpoint the Thaw-White tragedy is a sorrowful story. Its culmination shocked the city and vibrated throughout the country. Tales that were told of both men after the killing continued the vibrations of the shock. They made men and women of even and average lives shudder. These tales may be true or untrue.

One cannot help but wish, however, that there might be some sort of law to require that every able-bodied boy be brought up to do some useful work of hand or head. It might be even an unwritten law of sufficiently compelling strength. The average person is of opinion that Harry Thaw smoked too many cigarettes for his own good and the good of society, of which he is necessarily a part. Since the unwritten law depended upon by Lawyer Demas is chiefly a matter of sentiment and its application in a concrete instance a matter of persuasive oratory, it may be argued at the trial that Stanford White, who worked and produced, had more right to continue his life than Harry Thaw, who idled and consumed.

Human society has progressed far from the period when the naked man married the naked woman by hitting her over the head with a club and dragging her to his cave and then protected his right to her by hitting the other naked man over the head with the same club. Yet society is still imperfect.

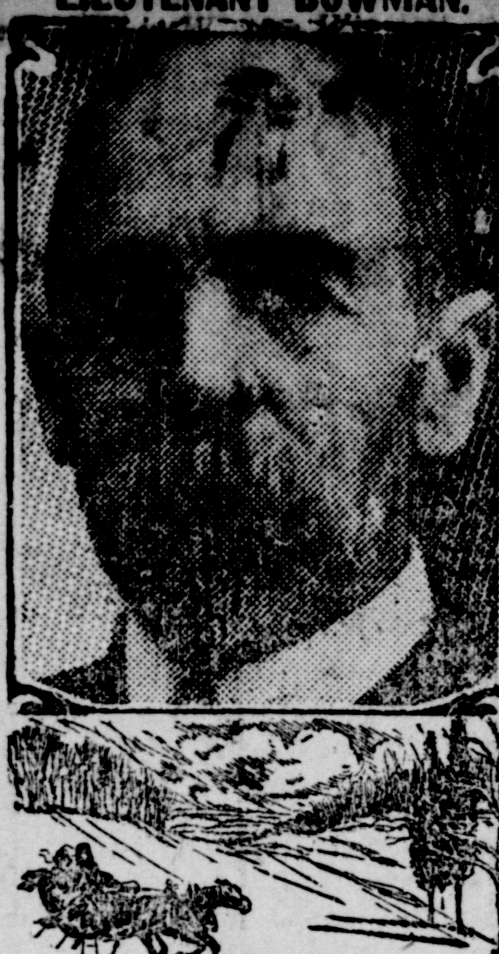

We wear clothes now. We live in houses created by architects. We wed by mutual consent. Still under certain circumstances two men and one woman spell tragedy. And the clothed man, having a pocket, carries his improved club concealed for quick use upon occasion.

Make Your Own Linoleum.

Tack tightly to your kitchen floor an old carpet. Rag carpet is the best. Spread thickly over this a thick paste of flour and water. When dry, add another thick layer. Then paint in some dark color. This can be scrubbed and will wear a lifetime.

LOBBYISTS RESPONSIBLE FOR WAR AGITATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.—Opponents of the ship subsidy bill pending in the house have discovered behind the Japanese war scare a subsidy lobby. They assert that at considerable expense this lobby is circulating broadcast startling rumors of strained relations with Japan at a time when the subsidy bill is about to be taken up for consideration.

It is predicted by them that when the debate on the bill commences in the house the friends of the measure will urge, with great force, the alleged unpreparedness of the United States for a naval war and the great desirability of supplying, by means of subsidy encouragement a fine merchant marine fleet that would be available in the case of hostilities.

TOKIO, Feb. 6.—Baron Kaneko, formerly special envoy to the United States, in a statement made here, says that war with the United States is unthinkable.

"The Japanese understand America better than the Americans understand Japan," he said. "A great majority of the men holding public positions here were educated by American instructors. Japan's moral system insists that a finger shall never be raised against a benefactor. Japan owes her position among the powers to America."

TEXAS NUT GROWERS

(Tribune Special Service.)

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 6.—The Texas Nut Growers' association began its second annual meeting here today with a gratifying attendance. The meeting, which will remain in session over tomorrow, will discuss plans for putting into effect the project of the late Governor Hogg for the planting and cultivation of trees for commercial purposes. A movement is on foot to secure a tract of land near here on which to conduct experiments to ascertain the comparative value of the different varieties of trees.

When an auto car is not in use jacks should be placed under the frame to relieve the springs and tires from strain.

WOMAN'S WORLD

MISS C. T. CROSBY.

First Woman to Hunt and Fish in the Lake Regions of Maine.

Miss Cornelia Thuzza Crosby, known to thousands as "Fly Rod," the first woman to hunt, fish and stalk game in the lake regions of Maine, is a philosopher as well as a sportswoman. "All we take out of this world is the good things we do for others and the friendships we make here," she says.

Great-granddaughter of Ezekiel Porter, first selectman of Farmington, who was a personal friend of George Washington and a colonel in the Revolutionary war, she was born in Phillips in the little cottage where she still lives under the shadow of trees which her father planted when a young man. She grew up with an inborn love of forests and the woods life. She loves the woods, and instead of flowers one finds about her rooms bits of pine, branches of cedar and of fir, fragrant and clean.

When still young her health broke down, and she took to the forest life in self preservation, adding to necessity a love of sports and adventure. Her adventures in wood and along stream have been the theme of many a writer, her own stories, written over the signature of "Fly Rod," are familiar as nursery tales in many a family, and her personality is well known to thousands of people who have seen her a welcome guest at summer hotel or campfire or city home.

Many women today shoot and fish and camp with their husbands and brothers in the woods of Maine. But Fly Rod was the first to make the way easy and safe. Her rifle was the first to echo in the lake country of her own state, and her skill and personality soon won her wide attention. Her fishing tackle, her rifles, her hunting costumes, most of them gifts from wealthy friends, are familiar to the public. Her work in establishing a Maine exhibit in the New York sportsmen's exhibition has done more to advertise Maine as a hunters' paradise than any one single method of its advertising.

Miss Crosby is a convert to the Catholic faith and takes an active, earnest, practical part in all church work.—Boston Herald.

Keeping Silver Bright.

There is nothing uglier than dull, smeary looking silver. It is bad enough in a toilet service, but when ill kept silver is seen on the dining table it presages a carelessness that is far from reassuring to the diner.

It is not enough to give silver a weekly cleaning, as is much the custom. Coal gas, steam and furnace heat all tarnish it quickly, while the dust from even the best kept house will soon dim a polished surface.

To keep silver bright after use it should be washed at once with a chamolite leather soaked in warm, soapy water, rinsed thoroughly in boiling water and dried and polished quickly with a soft cloth or a fresh chamolite skin.

This, to a well trained dishwasher, should be as expeditious as the ordinary slipshod methods of drying the table silver in constant use.

If it becomes too clouded, yet one does not find it convenient to give it a regular cleaning, silver can be wonderfully cleaned by a rub with a rough chamolite. One of these should be in every well equipped pantry. They are sure to rub off on hands and gowns, especially when new, but are excellent for an emergency.

The most persistently and brilliantly shiny silver I have ever seen belongs to a woman whose maid confided to me the secret of its good appearance. She always used pure alcohol instead of water to moisten her silver powder. Never use a stiff brush or a rough cloth on a plain surface, for scratches dirt will result. A very occasional turning over of one's silver to a jeweler for repolishing is useful when one can afford the expense.

Middle Age and Trim Figures.

It is a rare thing to see a woman of forty with a light step, a graceful carriage and a trim figure. We say trim, not slender or childish. It would be foolish to make the outlines of girlhood the ideal for a woman of middle age. Nature provides that she shall "fall into flesh" a little and that her form should express something more substantial than the careless grace of a girl. But women of about forty are far too prone to indulge the natural inclinations of advancing years. It is a thing even more rare to find a woman who wakes to the fact that conditions could be improved and starts to do something in that line. Hopeless as it may seem, a figure, a carriage can be vastly changed even at forty-five years. It is a slow process to effect such improvements even at twenty-five. At the former age it is proportionately difficult. But it can be done. Even though the flesh grow weary and unwilling, the will can bring it to better form. Faithful daily practice in contour exercises, general activity and constant attention to one's position will work wonders. An erect posture—sitting, standing or walking—with vigilant care over every attitude, will be quite worth while to the woman who has lost forever the fresh rosinness of girlhood, but who has in its place grace and dignity and a sweetness different from anything else in the world.

Powder on the Face.

The girl who always complains that powder shows on her face may be pretty sure that she is not taking correct care of her complexion or that the powder she is using is not desirable. If the complexion is kept soft and smooth with a good facial food or cream it will accept powder without raising a disturbance and making the girl look like a humpy dumpty. Of course when the cuticle is flaky and molting in large particles any dry substance like powder will but exaggerate the trouble. But when the surface is smooth and soft and fine little powder can be used with good effect. Besides giving the face a velvety look it will act as a protection against the winds and the gentle breezes that blow not only in the springtime, but the whole year through.

Trick in Dishwashing.

Where a great deal of dishwashing is necessary it is a good plan to do away with the drying of dishes. To make this possible in the average household a rack is now used. It is shaped like those photographers use for negatives, only, of course, much larger. After being rinsed with clean hot water the dishes can be set up on edge in the rack and allowed to dry by evaporation. All they need then is a polish with a dry towel as they are placed on the table. One can wash the dishes, go about other work and return to find them all ready to put away.

Macaroni Rarebit.

For macaroni rarebit take half a cupful of boiled macaroni that has been cut into small pieces. Put half a cupful of milk into a saucepan, stir in quickly the yolks of three eggs, a cupful of American cheese either grated or broken into small pieces, a generous tablespoonful of butter, salt, pepper and freshly macaroni. Stir the mixture over the fire until the cheese has melted; then serve on hot buttered toast.

Eyes, Hair and Gowns.

Where a person has hair of a dark reddish hue and eyes almost black they look best in a dark neutralized orange or brown, where hair, eyes, skin and costume blend in a harmonious whole. On the contrary, if a person has lustrous blue black hair and eyes, with cold grayish skin, not rich in color, they will stand out if the costume is in harmony with steely blue or cold gray.

Heating Irons.

If you are ironing with the patent handle irons and using a gas range, it is a good idea to put a tin cover on top of the iron as it sits on the fire. The cover keeps the heat from escaping, and your iron with its help will get hot much quicker. On a good sized blaze two irons of this kind covered with a tin or copper cover will heat as soon as one.

Apples in Chile.

In Chile they let nothing in the apple go to waste. There, after making cider and wine from their apples, they extract from the refuse a white and finely flavored spirit, and by another process they procure a sweet treacle, or, as they term it, honey.

Radium.

An ounce of radium contains power enough to lift 10,000 tons a mile above the surface of the earth. It is asserted.

Empress Theodora.

The Empress Theodora, in spite of her disreputable antecedents, was undoubtedly a great woman, and she married Justinian, one of the most eminent of the Roman emperors.

Ceylon's Fishing Season.

Off the coast of Ceylon the fishing season is inaugurated by numerous ceremonies, and the fleet of boats then puts to sea. Fishing, when allowed, generally commences in the second week of March and lasts from four to six weeks, according to the season.

Spilling of Salt.

It is a curious fact that the popular superstition of overturning the salt at table being unlucky originated in a picture of the "Last Supper" by Leonardo da Vinci, in which Judas Iscariot is represented as overturning the salt.

A WISE FORBEARANCE

It is gratifying to learn that the saloonkeepers of La Crosse do not contemplate engaging in the folly of displaying their resentment of the anti-slot machine order by retaliating against the brewers whom they charge with responsibility for it.

The propriety of such action might be fairly questioned, and its wisdom is certainly open to challenge. That the effort would result disastrously to saloon men is not a theory. It is settled by experience. In at least one instance where, retaliating against the brewers of a certain city, its saloonists closed on Sunday and took other steps to curtail the sale of beer, the saloon men met with a signal defeat. The brewers immediately put in saloons of their own to compete with the established institutions and, once established, these saloons continued to operate and were a source of great loss of business by the independent competitors.

If it is right that the saloons should close on Sunday, the change should be secured as the result of a bona fide movement, not through resentment of what may or may not have been, in the view of the saloonists, an indiscreet concession to the element of our citizenship who favor the injection of strict morality into our administrative and business life.

The vindictiveness with which the public mouthpiece of a "busted" trust assails public officials with whom he became painfully acquainted when they were starring in the role of "trust busters," is not nearly as surprising as the facility with which he turns to thrust the cold steel of the pen proved less mighty than the left hook, into the trusting vitals of his quondam allies and financial supporters. Ingratitude becomes characteristic when betrayal of trust becomes habitual.

If the alleged incompetency or inattention to duty of City Clerk Sieger is equal to his simplicity in having pinned his faith to the gentleman who arrived in La Crosse on a flying switch, the adverse criticism of his administration is not unfounded.

In Archibald Clavering Gunter's celebrated juvenile story, "Small Boys in Big Boots," there appears in the frontispiece a picture of a high hill overlooking "Peekskill." On the top of this hill stands a ragged urchin, his worldly belongings encompassed by a badly worn carpet bag. The picture is entitled, "Boot's apostrophe to Peekskill," and beneath the picture he is quoted as saying, "Why, I have got this blooming town in my grip sack!" It takes no mental gymnast to see in this picture, Mr. Gelatt's apostrophe to La Crosse.

The approaching municipal campaign is an important one to La Crosse. It must show whether the people of this community are capable of making a few needed corrections in our methods of municipal administration without surrendering the splendid business policy which has been responsible for the magnificent growth and advancement of the city. This largely depends upon the selection of the right men for the offices and the danger is that political enthusiasm may get the better of common sense. The Tribune proposes in this campaign to enter into a final discussion of all matters pertaining to it and to give an unbiased and non-partisan presentation of the facts and logic relevant to the situation.

The Thaw trial having crowded all legitimate news out of the daily papers, we shall be permitted to remain in blissful ignorance of any events worthy of note for several days to come.

Any proposed ordinance being negative shall not be submitted again in less than three years."

Our Ignorance
We've often wondered why it is that lovers love,
Like all of us have pondered on the stars above;
Why is it you or we should pick
Just one girl from a score,
Why should we let the others go
And love "her" all the more?

Why is it that a gambler, in turning trump
Will scowl at one, while other cards will make him jump—
All this before he sees his hand,
Just sudden, strange elation—
Why is it at roulette he plays
Some tangled combination?

Now we don't know just why it is that lovers love,
Nor are we much informed about the
stars above;
We fathom not the card shark's
"hunch"

Nor his roulette combinations—
In fact we do not even know
Why lovers knot relations.

The report of the work of the United was largely reduced.

FORECAST OF FASHION.

Cravats For the Taffier Made Girl.
Costs For Wee Ones.

Cravats form a large element in the wardrobe of the girls who revel in tailor-made. For wear with the fashionable linen tuners very small jaunty cravats are made. They are fastened on a piece of pasteboard matching the material used in the bow and attached to the collar button with a bit of elastic. Plain silk bows less than two inches across, one sewed above the other, and small double bows in a light shade of blue, green, brown or red on a deeper tint of the same color are worn with plain silk waists.

single butterfly ends, with a tight knot in the center, are worn by young girls.

darling tricked out in. Raccoon fur lines some well built coats for little men and women, and these models are guiltless of any fur on the outside.
Corduroy lined with cony skin will neither the material nor the lining is too expensive to be placed on the prohibitive list.

A most becoming effect is given this season's hats by facing the brims with some light color. The face is brought out and softened, and the hat remains dark.

The breakfast jacket illustrated is of embroidered cashmere. In this instance the color is pale blue, and the trimming is cream colored lace. Albatross and similar lightweight materials are to be recommended also. Scotch and French flannels are not to be despised.

as a setting for pearls. Another style of headdress consists of gold or silver lace work set with pearls.

Silk crochet buttons are revived and are to be had in all the fashionable colors.

There is a new neck ruching that resembles the glove garter. To make this little article, which has become so fashionable as an accessory to the shirt waist, one has only to take enough elastic to go around the neck snugly.
On the end of this there are hook and eye. Some inch wide ribbon is now shirred over the elastic, and a very tiny ruching is sewed to the top. At the back there is a little bow of velvet to match the ribbon shirring.

Another pretty accessory is the coat set embroidered on either white or colored linen. It is shaped to fit the coat and lapels. The neck piece is pointed at each end and elaborately worked in eyelet embroidery. The cuffs are broad bands of linen worked and finished square upon the corners, so they can be lapped with good results.

The illustration shows one of the latest exercising costumes of dark blue serge trimmed with black braid. The bloomers are decidedly novel.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURE BLOOD

A great many people have an idea that old sores exist merely because of a diseased condition of the flesh where the ulcer is located. They patiently apply salves, powders, plasters and other external applications, but in spite of all such treatment the place refuses to heal. Whenever a sore or ulcer does not heal readily the blood is at fault; this vital fluid is filled with impurities and poisons which are constantly being discharged into the place, feeding it with noxious matter, which makes it impossible for the sore to heal. Old sores may be the result of an inherited blood taint, or the effects of a long spell of sickness, or again the circulation may be contaminated with the collections of refuse matter which the different members have failed to expel through the channels of nature. Whatever the cause the blood becomes steeped in poison and a cut, bruise, scratch or other wound often develops into a sore, fed and kept up by these impurities, causing it to eat deeper into the surrounding tissue, inflaming, festering and causing pain. External applications can only keep the sore clean; they cannot cure the trouble because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. cures Old Sores by going to the very bottom of the trouble, driving out the impurities and poisons and purifying and building up the entire circulation. When S. S. S.
has removed the cause the blood becomes rich and healthy, the sore begins to heal, new flesh is formed, the place scabs over and is soon permanently healed. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free.

Jonathan P. Dolliver

Jonathan P. Dolliver, whom Iowa has just re-elected to the United States senate, was born near King-wood, W. Va., Feb. 6, 1858. He was graduated in 1875 from the West Virginia University and was admitted to the bar in 1878, after his removal to the west. The first few years of his residence in Iowa were spent in building up a big law practice and in gaining a reputation as a finished and able orator. Beginning with the Fifty-first congress he was regularly re-elected until appointed United States senator in 1900 to succeed the late J. H. Gear. In 1902 he was elected for the six-year term. Mr. Dolliver has a national reputation for his original campaign methods. When campaigning for congress he held his meetings in a large tent and made liberal use of an advance agent and posters in circus-like fashion. He is a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, and it is said he caught the idea of his original campaign methods from the camp meetings which he attended in his early days.

FRUIT HOUSEBOARD OF TRADE DECIDES TO FEED ITS MEMBERSFour Times a Year in an effort to Get Them Together; Old Officers Are Re-elected

The annual meeting of the La Crosse Board of Trade was held last evening in the city hall.

About twenty-five members attended. A large number no doubt were kept away by the cold weather.

All members proved to be very enthusiastic, however, and many important measures were discussed and considered.

The object of the meeting was to revise the constitution and by-laws.

The old officers were unanimously re-elected, no other nominations for any office being made for anyone else.

Secretary Ray S. Reid read the minutes after which he rendered his annual report, in which he referred to the prosperity of the city and its increase in commercial operations. Although the city showed no large growth, he said that steps in this direction would be taken during 1907.

The much needed improvement in the Mississippi river channel project was also spoken of, as was also the question of freight rates, which showed that there was still much to be done in this regard before we would be on an equal footing with other cities in obtaining a fair rate to all points in the northwest.

His report showed that the total value of manufactured products for the year 1906 was $17,347,600, a gain of $541,089 over that of last year. The total amount paid in wages was $4,732,600, a gain of $721,644 over that of last year. The number of hands employed is 8,976, an increase of eighty-two.

The merchandise handled during the past year at wholesale was $15,723,000, as against $14,616,839 last year. The retail merchandise handled amounted to $12,232,700 as against $10,818,586 in 1905. The total increase in both wholesale and retail merchandise handled during the year is $2,520,865.

The total enrollment at the public schools showed a decrease of 117 for 1906, when 4,978 pupils attended, while during 1905, 5,095 were present. The average number belonging, however, shows an increase, there having been 4,230 during 1906 as against 4,214.5 in 1905.

Quarterly Meetings

The special committee appointed to revise the constitution and by-laws made its report through its chairman, C. H. Schweizer. The committee recommended that the present scale of dues be continued, which was adopted.

The committee then recommended that quarterly meetings of the board be held instead of monthly meetings on the first Tuesdays of the month of January, April, July and October of each year and that such meetings be held in a hall and that a light lunch be served to the members at the expense of the board.

It was further recommended that the directors hold monthly meetings, said meetings to be held during the dinner or lunch hour on the last Tuesday of each month with the exception of July and August and that a suitable dinner be prepared at the expense of the board of each member of the board of directors at these regular meetings.

Upon motion of A. A. Bentley $25 was appropriated for use of the advertising committee in preparing a suitable pamphlet, advertising the points of interest of the city of La Crosse, to be distributed in the regular correspondence of the business men. This pamphlet is to be approved by the board before published.

C. H. Schweizer and C. S. Van Aken were added to the special committee appointed about a year ago to investigate the matter of improving the Losey boulevard and the committee was urged to lay out some kind of plan before another summer passes.

The other members of the committee are W. F. Wolfe, Dr. Edward Evans and L. F. Easton.

LA CROSSE GIRLS AND BOYS WINNERS

Two very exciting games of basketball took place last evening in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A.

The La Crosse teams of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. defeated the girl's and boy's teams of the Sparta high school by the respective scores of 62 to 40 and 13 to 5.

The first game was played between the girls' team of the Sparta high school and the team representing the Y. W. C. A. in this city. The line-up of the Sparta team was as follows: Guards, Sophia Abrahams and Jessie Hollenbeck; forwards, Ida Jones and Helen Haddow; center, Gretchen Esch; center guard, Lulu Herrick. The local team line-up was composed of the following young ladies: Center, Miss Erickson; forwards, Rose Hickish and M. Harrison; guards, Ida Nordlie and Anna Ray; center guard, Gertrude Smith.

The teams were evenly matched during the first half resulting in a score of 3 to 2 in favor of the La Crosse team. In the second half the local team played the better game and the final score was 13 to 5 in favor of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Rose Hickish played the star game for the locals and made 11 of the 13 points. The officials for the game were Dawson, referee, and McConnell, umpire.

Y. M. C. A., 62; Sparta, 40

The second game between the Y. M. C. A. team and the Sparta high school team was one of the most exciting games played in the Y. M. C. A. for some time and resulted in a final score of 62 to 40 for the local team. The Y. M. C. A. team line-up was as follows: Forwards, Staley and Brill; backs, Bates and Zein; center, Roessner. The Sparta team line-up was Jefferson and Moffat, forwards; McConnell and Goodsell, backs; Longwell, center. Winginder of Sparta served as referee and Dawson of the Y. M. C. A. acted as umpire.

The first half resulted in a score of 30 to 19 in favor of La Crosse and the local team was able to increase the lead to 62 to 40 at the close of the second half.

Known to motor boat owners as the speediest, most stylish and dependable, as well as the most reasonably priced boats in service in this vicinity, the Red Wing speed boats and launches, are expected to set the pace in La Crosse during the coming summer.

The Tribune has begun the publication of a series of announcements concerning the Red Wing boats, which will be of interest to prospective purchasers. Many Red Wing boats are already owned in La Crosse and are giving entire satisfaction. The Red Wing company makes boats of all prices and sizes, from a "special" sixteen-foot with a horse power and a half engine making seven miles an hour, at $145, to the powerful, slim-built speedsters which will cleave the water at twenty miles.

LA CROSSE PLAYERS
AT SKAT TOURNNEY

Ten skat players from La Crosse went to make up the greatest tournament of the game ever held in Wisconsin, at Milwaukee Sunday.

Just exactly 1,000 players bought tickets for the Wisconsin State Skat league tournament in Milwaukee, and at least 100 would have played had not the crowd been so large they thought they could not be accommodated.

The players came from all over the state and some came from Illinois and Minnesota. The management was hardly prepared for the unusual attendance and early in the afternoon was forced to conduct an overflow tournament.

None from La Crosse won prizes.

TWO SMALL FIRES

There were two small fires this morning.

On Market street between West avenue and Thirteenth street a stove which had been placed in the basement became stopped up and filled the basement full of smoke. No damage was done.

A chimney fire at the home of L. Ziegler, 1720 Badger street was caused by an overheated stove. Only a small hole was burned in the wall and the damage was slight.

BODY HERE TODAY

It is expected the remains of Otto Dittman, the La Crosse soldier boy who died in San Francisco will reach here today. A telegram was received by the American Express company last night that the body had been shipped from Kansas City via the Great Western and would arrive in Winona this morning, being transferred from there to La Crosse. The funeral will probably be held tomorrow.

Night Sweats and Chills Gone.
Weight Increased 14 Pounds

MR. JOHN BENTLEY.

Mr. John Bentley of Grand Rapids, Mich., who was so low from lung trouble that the doctor gave him up as incurable, and who had night sweats and chills and weighed only 86 lbs., was miraculously cured by Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Letters like the following, written by Mr. Bentley, unsolicited, should be published so that the world may know what the great medicine is doing for suffering humanity.

"I have taken DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY for three months for lung troubles. When I first commenced I was bedfast, and now I am able to work. Now, the doctor of our town said that nothing would help me, but DUFFY'S MALT WHISKEY did what the doctors could not do. I had night sweats and chills and weighed 86 pounds. I weigh 100 pounds now, the chills have left me, and the sweats are also gone. I am looking for great results.—MR. JOHN BENTLEY, Grand Rapids, Mich." Nov. 15, '06.

SAY SHE WAS KILLED IN THEATRE

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 6.—

Developments in the mysterious death of 18-year-old Frances Martin, whose body was found in a room across the street from a theater, have convinced Coroner Sipe and District Attorney Underwood that the girl died in a small room over the theater box office, to which only two persons have keys. One of these John Innes, Miss Martin's sweetheart, who is under arrest, and Daniel B. Forrest, manager of the theater.

Dr. J. B. Shannon, who was called by John V. Cook, stage manager of the theater, when the girl's body was found, said that he saw three men carrying a bundle from the theater to the building where the body was found. A bridge connects the two buildings. It was in Cook's rooms that Miss Martin was found dead.

Dr. Shannon declared he was not summoned for an hour after he saw the party pass from the theater. He said he could identify none of the three men.

Innes, just a few minutes before the inquest adjourned for the day, suddenly declared that the girl had been taken suddenly ill at 5 o'clock Sunday morning in the theater and died before he could summon medical aid. It is expected that several others will be arrested in connection with the case.

MALE CHORUS OF CHORAL CLUB PRACTICES

The La Crosse Choral club met last evening in the high school building for the third rehearsal on Gounod's "Faust."

The music in this concert will be most entertaining. The male chorus of four parts was well given at the last rehearsal but will no doubt be the grandest male rendition ever heard in the city if the additional number of voices are secured. As the music is beautiful it will no doubt be very easy to get any number of men to sing.

At 9:30 last evening ladies of the chorus were requested to leave and the remainder of the time was given entirely to drilling the male chorus which promises to be the feature of the next concert.

COMPLAINED ABOUT SENTENCE FOR A THEFT

Noticing an article in a paper in which it was stated that one Walsh had been sentenced in Ohio to a penitentiary term for stealing a loaf of bread, William B. Batchelder of this city wrote the governor of Ohio, in closing the clipping, and giving his opinion that a law permitting a penitentiary sentence for a man who would steal bread to keep his family from starving was a poor law.

Mr. Batchelder yesterday received the following reply from the secretary to Ohio's governor:

The governor is in receipt of yours of the 22nd and directs me to inform you that the clipping you enclose does not give you sufficient facts upon which to base a correct conclusion. The man Welsh was a tramp who committed some five or six burglaries on the same day. When arraigned before Judge Allread, Welsh was given every opportunity to plead "not guilty" and stand trial with the chance of receiving a much lighter sentence, but after full explanation he insisted on pleading "guilty" and left the judge no chance whatever to do anything except impose the sentence he did. Welsh seemed anxious to go to the Penitentiary. Since his sentence, Judge Allread has given this office all the facts and has asked the governor to commute his sentence, which will probably be done quite as soon as Welsh himself would desire. It is a very common thing for tramps to commit some offense in order to get a jail sentence for the winter. The law is intended to take care of those burglars who enter inhabited dwellings, prepared to commit murder if necessary and occasionally catches a less offender, but on the whole it is proving to be an excellent law and it is easier to correct a case like this than to encourage one of the most dangerous crimes on the calendar.

Very respectfully,
S. J. FLICKINGER,
Secretary.

NO CESSATION OF GRAFT, HE SAYS

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 6.—Graft, child labor, and pure food legislation were among a variety of subjects discussed by John M. Glenn, secretary of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, in a paper read at a meeting of the co-operative class of the First Congregational church, Evanston.

Mr. Glenn, whose subject was "What the Illinois Manufacturers' Association Is," declared that "unfair use of money" is not confined to public officials and members of legislative bodies, but that the practice is prevalent among large business houses in their dealings with one another.

Following the reading of his paper the speaker was made the object of a series of rapid fire questions from the audience. The questioners wanted to know the attitude of the manufacturers' association on all sorts of questions of public interest.

In answer to one of the questions, Mr. Glenn said:

"I venture to say that at times in Chicago it is impossible to get an ordinance introduced into the council for even a sidetrack without bumping up against 'aldermanic courtesy.'"

"Don't you think the Chicago city council is better now than it used to be?" asked somebody.

"Yes, I do," said Mr. Glenn. "But suppose a company applied for a switch track in a ward in which the aldermen representing it were not above taking money. They could readily hold up the ordinance through 'aldermanic courtesy.'"

The subject of child labor occupied the speaker's attention during the first part of his address. He said the association was not opposed to child labor where the work is not of such a character as to be "detrimental to the child."

"The child labor agitators, many of whom know little or nothing about the situation under which labor is performed, have greatly exaggerated the circumstances," answered Mr. Glenn. "Youths employed in factories often are in more fortunate circumstances and in better health than those turned loose on the streets."

"How about the pure food agitation? Does the manufacturers' association uphold firms adulterating foodstuffs?" the speaker was asked.

Mr. Glenn explained the attitude of the association on this question by citing an example of a washerwoman purchasing a bottle of extract of lemon for 15 cents of the same size that a better quality would sell for 25 cents.

"The washerwoman knows that the extract is of an inferior quality, but it suits her purpose as well and she can make just as good pies for less money," he answered.

In discussing the association, the speaker said:

"No corporation in the United States has a more efficient or successful legal department than the Illinois Manufacturers' association. The association has accomplished that for which it was organized. It gets results, and its influence always will be for good."

COUSIN OF WHITTIER DIES PAUPER

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 6.—Miss Mariam Livingston, a cousin of the late John Greenleaf Whittier, is dead after enduring the privations of poverty for twenty years. Two generations ago she and her sister Metta, who survives, were counted society's leaders. Their only support for the last two decades has been a contribution of $10 a month from an unknown person in New York. In all that time they were neglected and forgotten by friends and relatives who once had enjoyed their hospitality.

The sisters are great granddaughters of Chancellor Robert Livingston, who administered the oath of office as president to George Washington. They were daughters of Walter Livingston, a prominent merchant of this city, who was United States consul to Marseilles under President Polk. Miss Livingston was a descendant of Henry Walter Livingston, who received from Queen Anne a grant of an extensive manor between New York and Albany. She was connected by blood or marriage with the Penns, the Tilghmans, the Allens, the Greenleaves, and many well known families. John Penn, last provincial governor of Pennsylvania; James Greenleaf, jurist; Chief Justice Tilghman, and Robert Fulton, inventor of the steamboat, were among her ancestors. The Livingstons of New York are intimately related to the sisters.

MAN WOULDN'T PAY MARRIAGE FEE AND FACES DIVORCE

MOUNT AYR, Ia., Feb. 6.—Mrs. William Bell, in her petition for divorce just filed, charges that her husband repeatedly was dunned in the presence of witnesses for the price of the license and the minister's fee at the time of the wedding in 1905. She declares that he is "parsimonious and extremely stingy."

Since their marriage she says he has contributed 13 cents to the support of the family, which was an overcharge on a grocery bill. The grocery bills, she avers, were paid from the proceeds of eggs from thirty old hens.

Bell forced his wife, according to the petition, to use laundry soap instead of toilet, because the latter was too expensive. Other allegations are that he considered calico good enough for dresses, that it was extravagant to put soap in dishwater, and that he forced her to sit in the dark instead of using a lighted lamp.

She says she was so humiliated by people insisting that he pay for the marriage license that finally she was forced to return to relatives.

Humor and Philosophy

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

It takes an heiress to reform a man by marrying him; she makes him plastic by working pure gold into him.

In the game of life, as in a barrel of potatoes, the good ones get on top somehow and small potatoes are always found at the bottom.

When a man is a dead one custom does not require his family to wear black.

All strap hangers look alike to the street car companies and look like 5 cents.

Merit is not always rewarded or virtue crowned, but pure nerve gets in the spotlight every time.

People ought really to consider what sort of actors they are before they start out to make a holy show of themselves.

The ordinary brand of hot air isn't guaranteed to keep the frost out in January.

People don't tumble over themselves to find a cure for worry; it would put too many of them out of business.

A man measures others by what he thinks they can't do, himself by what he thinks he can.

Surgical Reform.

If you have a naughty habit That annoys your charming wife, Have the doctor amputate it With his sharp and pointed knife. If you see a sawbones passing Call him in without delay For a trifling operation; It's the new and modern way.

They can take a naughty youngster Who has learned to smoke and chew And by cutting out some pieces Make him over nice and new. If his mother could not make him Brush his hair and fix up neat He would after one strong treatment Rather do that thing than eat.

Let a skillful fabricator On the surgeon's table lie. If the cutting is successful, Then he cannot tell a lie. If he runs to stealing chickens They can do some things to him That will make him leave a rooster. Though it's on the lowest limb.

Do not waste your precious moments Doing foolish things and cheap, Making idle resolutions That you know you cannot keep. Take your troubles to a surgeon. Sternly bound to see it through, And for several hundred dollars He will make you good as new.

Weeding Them Out.

Shirt Waist Flannel—Fashions in Pure-Parisian Hats.

One of the newest things in waistings is a wash flannel in challis weight. This comes in delicate background embroidered to give a pompadour effect. It washes beautifully and is urged as a rival of the ever popular white wash waist.

Fur stoles are broader than ever, and the cravat so much liked last season is pronounced out of fashion.

Nothing seems too eccentric for the hat of the Parisienne. She will combine a bunch of feathers—one brown, one purple and one green. She will have the tiniest rim imaginable, with a huge velvet crown overhanging it. She will wrap an ostrich feather round her hat and then about her neck or else let the superfluous end hang down her back, and she will make the most startling contrasts in color between her hat and its trimmings.

The new lace waists are showing bertha and harness effects of colored silks laid over them, light blue or pink or fawn color being used over the cream lace. This bertha effect is prettiest when cut in a triple sort of collar which comes down low on the bodice in front, each piece edged with tiny knife plaitings projecting from the one above it.

The picture shows a pretty bright plaid wool trimmed with collar and bands of fancy silk edged with white cloth. The skirt is kilt plaited and attached to the body of the lining, this lining being faced to form the shield.

SNAPSHOTS OF LA MODE.

An Economical Evening Frock—Some Good Millinery Hints.

Pompadour silk is one of the most fashionable fabrics for dinner dresses, and young women especially choose it, for it trims itself. With the exception of a wide plastron and a shoulder surplice of Venetian lace, a charming pink silk of this material has no other trimming. The gown is made on the princess lines with a short train. The sleeves are of the heavy Venetian, and the plastron on the front of the corsage is brought down to the waist line, where it is held by a soft knot of the lace, which hangs in long ends on the skirt.

Hats to match different costumes are still tremendously popular. At the same time there are many all black hats being worn with frocks of different colors. This is not a very safe fashion to follow, for there are certain colors in gowns which if worn with a black hat lose their individuality and smartness right away. Take, for instance, the red costume or any striking shade in the dark colors.

It is necessary with the hats of the moment that the hair should be becomingly arranged about the face. Then if there is no boa worn the collar must be extremely high, for there are very few women who can wear a low collar and a hat with success.

Brown for street wear is a favorite color. Here is an example that shows the color in cheviot with collar and cuffs of velvet. This style of suit is well adapted to all round use. The box coat is loose and fitted by means of shoulder and underarm seams. The seven gored skirt is laid in two box plaits at the front, back and sides.

LIFE OFFICERS GOT TRIPLE PAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 6.—The testimony in the investigation of the State Life Insurance company by the auditor of state showed that the officers had received salaries as officers, salaries as directors and allowances as "office employees," though they had done nothing as such employees to warrant payment. It also was shown that the editor of an insurance publication has drawn $100 monthly, but the witness knew nothing he had done to earn the money.

Cashier Howe was on the stand, and testified that the $2,000 received by each officer as an employee was in addition to the regular salaries. The examiner pointed out the fact that in the sworn statement to the auditor of the state the extra compensation was not reported under officers' salaries.

Mr. Howe said he prepared the statement from the accounts in the books. He said his instructions came from the officers of the company.

32 NABBED FOR CARD PLAYING

TRENTON, Mo., Feb. 6.—Thirty-two of the most prominent persons of Princeton were arrested on information filed by Prosecuting Attorney Kesterson as the result of playing cards for prizes. The information is under the law which prohibits playing "at any game for gain."

Kesterson has been raiding gambling-houses, and the gamblers complained to him against the card parties given by society leaders.

All those arrested will stand trial, and the first case is set for Thursday. The persons arrested say that if they are convicted they will cause proceedings to be brought against a number of church leaders.

GRAND-DAUGHTER OF LINCOLN WON'T FIGHT DIVORCE

AUGUSTA, Ga., Feb. 6.—Robert T. Lincoln, father of Mrs. Jessie Lincoln Beckwith, who with Mrs. Beckwith is stopping in Augusta, stated that the divorce proceedings begun by Beckwith were no surprise to his family, as the couple had been living apart for several years. Mr. Lincoln said it was a plain case of "quits." No opposition, he asserted, would be raised in the case of his daughter. As the couple had been living in Iowa previous to separation, and the law in that state requires only two years of separation in order to obtain a divorce on desertion charges, it is believed the divorce can be secured with ease by Beckwith.

The bride, who is of the blond type of beauty, was introduced to society with several of the popular young women of today, including Miss Janet Fish and Miss Sybil Kane. She received her education through private tutors. Her knowledge of French, German, Spanish and Russian is almost faultless. She is also accomplished in music and rides exceptionally well.

Last summer she spent several months in Europe with her mother and sister. Her mother is a descendant of the old Livermore family, of New York and Connecticut. Robert Stuart Howard, her grandfather, is a direct descendant of the Dukes of Norfolk, and her paternal grandfather the late Richard Flower, is related to the oldest and most prominent families in Louisiana.

Mr. Barby received his early education in England, and was graduated from Harvard in 1904. He has never engaged actively in business, but is interested in mines in Colorado and elsewhere. His mother was Miss Lorillard, a sister of the late Pierre Lorillard and the late Mrs. Lawrence Kip and of Mrs. James P. Kernochan. His sisters are the Countess de Pourtales and the Countess de Neufville and Miss Rita Barby.

BURNED BY BRACE- LETS DIPPED IN ACID

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 6.—Three high school girls—Hazel Reiser, Bertha Hoffman and Lillian Kern—were injured so badly while being initiated into the Alpha Gamma sorority that two of them will be marked for life. Physicians were called to attend them today and the facts became known. At the initiation, which took place a few nights ago, the girls were compelled to wear bracelets which had been dipped in acid. The acid burned into the flesh, and they suffered so severely that, after keeping their injuries secret for some time, they were compelled to call in doctors. Miss Reiser and Miss Kern were injured most severely.

ELOPES TO WED HER SOLDIER-LOVER

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 6.—Successfully eluding her objecting parents, Miss Lesta Newman of Bussey, Ia., came to Des Moines and was married to Lieut. Robert Blaine, a cousin of James G. Blaine. They will leave in a few days for the Philippines.

Miss Newman and Lieut. Blaine have been lovers for three years. Her parents objected to the match, as they did not want her to become an officer's wife.

Lieut. Blaine was given leave by his colonel, at Fort Robinson, Neb., and came to Des Moines on Friday, met Miss Newman, and the wedding followed.

BUY VICE-MAYOR FURS TO KEEP HIM WARM

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 6.—While wintry winds whistled through broken window panes in the big council chamber of the city yesterday Vice Mayor Frank L. Pfaff, the presiding officer, kept on his overcoat and walked back and forth on the platform in order to keep from being chilled to the bone.

Councilman W. J. Byrte promptly met the seeming emergency by offering a resolution authorizing the board of public service to buy the vice mayor a fur overcoat, fur cap and earmuffs to wear while on duty or until such time as the window panes of the council chamber were in condition to withstand the wintry blasts. The resolution was passed unanimously.

PROMINENT SOCI- ETY FOLKS WED

(Tribune Special Service.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—About 100 people gathered in St. Thomas' church this afternoon to witness one of the most fashionable and at the same time one of the most unostentatious church weddings of the season.

The bride was Miss Florence Flower, the eldest daughter of Mrs. James de Laval Flower, formerly of New Orleans, now of New York, and the bridegroom was Mr. Pierre Lorillard Barby, a well-known clubman.

Owing to the recent death of the bridegroom's father no attempt was made at an elaborate wedding. The guests were confined to the relatives of the two families and a few intimate friends from New Orleans, Boston and this city. Miss Estelle Flower was her sister's only attendant. Mr. Henry G. Barby, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. An informal reception followed at the Flower home in East Sixty-first street.

The bride, who is of the blond type of beauty, was introduced to society with several of the popular young women of today, including Miss Janet Fish and Miss Sybil Kane. She received her education through private tutors. Her knowledge of French, German, Spanish and Russian is almost faultless. She is also accomplished in music and rides exceptionally well.

Mr. Barby received his early education in England, and was graduated from Harvard in 1904. He has never engaged actively in business, but is interested in mines in Colorado and elsewhere. His mother was Miss Lorillard, a sister of the late Pierre Lorillard and the late Mrs. Lawrence Kip and of Mrs. James P. Kernochan. His sisters are the Countess de Pourtales and the Countess de Neufville and Miss Rita Barby.

SHARKS TO BE ON GAMBLING RACK

PRINCETON, Mo., Feb. 6.—Thirty-two residents, among them some of the most respected citizens of Princeton, have been arrested for playing cards on an information filed by Prosecuting Attorney B. F. Kesterson. Kesterson has been clearing out the gambling places. It is said the gamblers complained to him against card parties. The first case is set for tomorrow.

The victims declare that if they are convicted they will cause proceedings to be instituted against their hosts for keeping gambling houses and against a number of social and religious leaders for playing dominoes for prizes.

Similar action has been urged repeatedly on grand juries in various parts of this state, but this is the first time as to whether card playing for prizes really is unlawful. The maximum punishment is a fine of $200, though in this case, as some persons under age were concerned, it is possible to impose a penalty of not more than six months in jail.

GOOD REASON.

"Honestly, we don't make a cent on that watch."
"Well, what do ye want to sell it for?"
"Oh, that's all right; ye'll want it repaired once in awhile."

HIS OWN EXPERIENCE.

Fiend: "Do you really believe, doctor, that smoking tends to shorten one's days?"
Doctor: "It all depends."
Fiend: "Depends upon what?"
Doctor: "Well, if you've been accustomed to smoking and suddenly stop it will make the days seem horribly long."

AT THE BOX OFFICE.

The Leading Man: "I'm afraid we won't get passes. He says they don't extend any professional courtesies."
The Leading Lady: "It's only their discourtesies that are professional."

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Mrs. Longworth calls her walking suits "slinkers," a name that may not be as unfamiliar to women as it is to most men.

Lady Charles Beresford collects ball programmes as a hobby, specially favoring those painted by hand or designed by lady artists.

Mother Augustine of the Ursuline convent at Springfield, Ill., has been selected as a member of the Ursuline council under the mother general of the Ursuline nuns, Rome.

Mrs. Levi Z. Leiter is to return to Chicago soon, accompanied by her two surviving daughters, the Countess of Suffolk and Mrs. Collins-Campbell, and by Lord Curzon. She will come to revise her will or make a new one in consequence of the death of her oldest daughter, Lady Curzon.

Mrs. Rosa Lewis, chief culinary artist of the Cavendish hotel, London, is believed to draw a larger salary than any other female cook in the world. She is paid $15,000 a year for her services, and so widespread is her fame that graduates from her kitchen are always sure of good positions.

The Duchess of Roxburgh, who was Miss May Goelie of New York, has taken up the prevalent craze to collect animals, and she is building a miniature zoo at Floors castle. In fact, the duchess, a masterful little lady, has everything she wants at the castle, while the duke complacently bends to her gentle yoke.

Mrs. Root, wife of the secretary of state, is known as the most ardent germicide in the higher social set of Washington. Mrs. Root has made a study of germs, and it is her knowledge on these points which has made her such a difficult person to please when it comes to choosing a residence. She has likewise a reputation of moving more than any other official hostess.

LAW POINTS.

Diligent inquiry is held in Modern Woodmen of America versus Gerdum (Kan.), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.), 800, to be necessary to raise a presumption of death from seven years' unexplained absence of a person.

A passenger's relation to the carrier is held in Glenn versus Lake Erie and Western Railroad company (Ind.), 2 L. R. A. (N. S.), 872, to have terminated where upon reaching his destination he voluntarily loitered in the station house in quest of pleasure.

One whose indorsement was secured upon a note by the trick of inducing him to sign his name to a paper placed upon the note in such a way that the ink penetrated through to the note is held in Yakima Valley bank versus McAllister (Wash.), 1 L. R. A. (N. S.), 1075, not to be liable.

THE ROYAL BOX.

The czar has a strong dislike to being photographed alone. He is, however, quite at ease when forming one of a group.

Maud, queen of Norway, has always been the one of Queen Alexandra's daughters who most resembled herself in figure and manner.

By far the most democratic court in Europe is that of King Haakon of Norway. The hardy Norsemen who gave such cordial welcome to King Edward's son-in-law insist on simplicity in the royal surroundings. There are no hereditary distinctions or titles at court, even the queen's ladies in waiting being plain "Mrs." or its equivalent in the Norse tongue.

INDUSTRIAL ITEMS.

There are more than 120 india rubber manufacturers in the United States, employing more than 15,000 operatives. Apples grown in Tasmania, south of Australia, are shipped 11,000 miles to British markets, and yet they pay so well that Tasmania apple orchards have sold as high as $1,100 an acre. Five hundred dollars an acre is a moderate valuation.

High hopes are entertained that much of the fiber of the cotton stalks in the south will soon be utilized for making paper, and scientific students of the boll weevil believe that if the stalks can be thus disposed of at a profit the weevil will do little damage to cotton thereafter.

WOMAN'S REALM.

The total vote cast in the recent election in Chicago was 302,706, of which 1,579 were cast by women. As the number of men and women of voting age is approximately equal, the necessary inference is that only one woman in 191 really cares to vote.

Since his return to China from abroad the newly appointed governor general of Nankin, Tuan Fang, has devoted his attention to female education. He aroused in the capital the interest in the house-pia (ministry of education) for this subject, and the latter has decreed the immediate establishment of girls' schools throughout the empire.

Kenosha advices are to the effect that scarlet fever conditions at Genoa and Bassett are greatly improved. The milk supply obtained from these two places is held to be responsible to a large degree for the scarlet fever epidemic at Chicago.

NEWS AND NOTES OF SPORT

The Virginia State League of Baseball clubs holds its annual meeting in Richmond today. It is likely that Jake Wells will be re-elected to the presidency and will accept.

The undergraduates of Harvard are pinning a good deal of faith on the belief that President Roosevelt, when he visits the Cambridge institution the latter part of this month, will say publicly and privately some things that will help their side of the case in the present turmoil over intercollegiate athletics.

Arrangements are well under way for the big Carlisle-Syracuse track meet to be held in Elmira in May. Joe Gans, the lightweight champion, is playing to packed houses in every city he visits.

Extensive alterations and improvements are in progress at several of the Long Island race tracks and every indication points to a great racing season about New York this summer.

Hube Ferris thinks that he was unjustly treated by the Boston Americans last season when he was suspended for his scrap with Jack Hayden. Ferris says that he expects to hold out for some time before signing a contract.

Frank Bancroft, who has just started on his seventeenth year as business manager for the Cincinnati ball club, is sixty years of age and the liveliest man in the business.

Nearly all of last year's players have signed for this season with the Birmingham club, champions of the Southern league.

E. W. Dickerson, manager of Herby Lewis, the pugilist, would like to break into baseball as president of a minor league.

It is said that manager Clark Griffith of the New York Highlanders is not trying to rush matters in signing his players. He believes in giving them plenty of time to think it over. Jack Reed of Chicago and Jack Dougherty are hitched up for a ten-round fight to be pulled off at Indianapolis tonight.

Not less than 60, and probably more than 75, of the best ski jumpers in the country, many of whom have won fame in their native land, will contest for honors at the annual meet of the National Ski association, which is to begin tomorrow at Ashland, Wis. The program of events will cover two days.

Thomas Hueston, who recently acquired the world's championship pool honors by defeating Jerome Keough in Buffalo, is to contest for the championship with Edward Dawson. The tournament is to open tomorrow night in New York. If Hueston is return the victor he will probably play a return match with Keough.

The Texas Baseball league has been organized with a circuit made up of Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, Temple, Waco, San Antonio and Austin. The season will open April 20 and close September 5.

Bill Papke, the Illinois miner who has recently come to the front in pugilism, will engage in a 10-round bout next week with Carl Anderson, of Hammond, Ind. The fight will take place at Spring Valley, Ill. The next big event on the pugilistic calendar will be the fight between Honey Melody of Boston and Willie Lewis of New York for the welterweight championship. The mill is slated to take place before one of the Rhode Island clubs next Monday night.

Catcher Lou Criger and Pitcher "Cy" Young, the star battery of the Boston Americans, have signed their contracts for the coming season.

The University of Chicago football eleven is trying to arrange for an eastern game this fall.

TRACKMEN TRY TELEGRAPHY ON MEETING

FORT SCOTT, Kan., Feb. 6.—Section hands employed in every state in the Union and on every system of road in the country ceased work at 9 o'clock and devoted five minutes to silent thought for the good of their union and the success of its efforts to better their conditions. The annual convention of the National Union of Railway Trackmen met in this city at that hour, and this unique requisition upon occultism had been planned with a firm faith in the efficiency of mental telegraphy.

SNOW MAN KILLS

KANKAKEE, Ill., Feb. 6.—A snow man in front of a schoolhouse caused a runaway accident, from the effects of which Mrs. Joseph Bourrell died today. She was thrown head first against a telephone pole Saturday and did not regain consciousness. She was on her way to a revival meeting at the time.

GOSPEL SERVICE FOR TOILERS

(Tribune Special Service.) NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The most widespread Gospel campaign ever attempted in the interest of the factory workers of Greater New York was inaugurated today with the holding of noon-day religious services simultaneously in more than a score of workshops. It is planned to keep up the work at least ten days and by holding fifty or more services daily it is expected to reach the most of the large factories in the metropolis.

Fifteen minutes meetings are held, closing three minutes before the whistle blows wherever it is the custom to suspend work for only half an hour, while thirty-minute meetings are held in those shops where an hour is allowed for lunch. Prominent clergymen of all denominations are giving their aid to the work.

KENTUCKY LUMBER DEALERS

(Tribune Special Service.) LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 6.—Prominent men of the lumber trade, members of the Kentucky Retail Lumber Dealers' association, gathered here today for their annual convention. Question relating to the supply and demand, prices, railroad rates and other matters affecting the trade are scheduled for discussion during the two days the convention will be in session.

WORLD OF FASHION TURNS OUT

(Tribune Special Service.) NEW YORK, Feb. 6.—The world of fashion turned out in full force this afternoon to witness the wedding of Miss Louise Vanderhoef, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman B. Vanderhoef, and Mr. Gustave Maurice Heckscher, which took place in St. Bartholomew's church. Both bride and bridegroom are well known in the younger set of fashionable society.

MODISH FANCIES.

Any Number of Tints Artistically Combined in Smart Costumes. Combinations of colors in low tones are the ruling fad. The colors blend and melt together after the manner approved by Dame Fashion this year. Nothing hard or glaring is tolerated, but once this point is gained any number of shades or tints may be combined without other limit than that of good taste.

Some queer kind of loose, fluffy brown plumage is used in millinery. The whole top of a large hat is of this stuff, with a few dead roses scattered upon it. The effect is like nothing so much as a heap of feathers in the barnyard after a fowl has been plucked. Afternoon gowns of gray are very smart, and the lightest shades are used, but for any other sort of street dress or wrap and for all ages it is the colder tints that are in vogue.

Black and white is always effective, and the black and white evening frocks are quite gorgeous. Lace half black and half white, elaborately trimmed with large jet ornaments, garlands of velvet or satin ribbon being works of art in between, is a very smart adornment. While this gown sounds expensive, it is not an extravagant style of dress, for the wear that it will give is astonishing.

The picture shows an ideal bath robe made in a manish style. The model is of elderdown, but a great many women prefer wash flannel, while there are a whole host of blankets that can be cut up and fashioned into ideal bathing or lounging robes.

Rough Blue Tweed Makes Smart Walking Suit—Embroidered Collars.

A good walking suit is made of rough blue tweed. The skirt is cut in nine gores and put in side plaits in the smart new way, which is down the center in three rows as far as the end of the corset. At the foot there are three folds of varying widths of plain material, headed with two rows of narrow blue braid.

Collars of embroidered linen, either soft or stiff, are the proper caper with the shirt waist of linen, silk, albatross or flannel.

working out all sorts of delightful effects by means of applied trimmings, girdles, etc.

Wings and plumes are very important factors in the winter millinery, and a remarkable development is shown in the tendency to combine several kinds of feathers on one hat shape.

The dress made in shirt waist style is very useful, and this year there are a number of designs that have all the charm of novelty while retaining the essential characteristics. The cut shows a gown of this kind in shepherd's check trimmed with velvet ribbon and worn with a shield of white linen.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

The Etruscans.

The Etruscans were a civilized people ages before the foundation of Rome. Herodotus states that Etruria, the modern Tuscany, was founded by a colony of Lydians. The Etruscan vases and tombs show a high state of civilization and refinement, and it is believed that the Romans borrowed many of their institutions and laws from Etruria.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

An interesting contest is on among the republican leaders of the Fifth congressional district of Michigan for the seat made vacant by the elevation of William Alden Smith to the senate.

Governor Campbell of Texas, in his initial message to the legislature, advocated laws prohibiting the issuance of free passes and nepotism in public offices, and urged the enactment of measures to stop tax dodging.

A record of 1,778 pardons in six years, or an average of one for almost every working day, was left by Governor Jeff Davis, who has just retired after serving three terms as chief executive of Arkansas.

Admirers of United States Senator M. La Follette among the students of the University of Wisconsin have started a movement to secure his nomination for president next year.

Two hundred thousand voters of Michigan, well organized and actively at work, are behind a movement to amend the state constitution so as to provide direct legislation. The plan is opposed by the conservative forces in the legislature.

Vice President Fairbanks, Attorney General Bonaparte and Secretary of the Treasury Shaw are to be among the notable guests at the Lincoln Day banquet given by the Union League of Maryland in Baltimore.

Jonathan Bourne, Jr., who was chosen United States senator for the six-year term by the Oregon legislature, was elected first by the vote of the people at the last state primary. The law is so framed that the election practically is binding on the legislature and is decisive.

Former Governor W. O. Bradley of Kentucky, has announced that he will not, under any circumstances, allow his name to be used as a candidate for governor of his state, but it is understood that he is not adverse to having it so used as a candidate for the United States senate.

Among the recommendations of Gov. Martin Ansel to the South Carolina legislature were the abolishment of the bucketshops, a system of rural police, liberal appropriations for the public schools, more drastic punishment for criminal assault upon women and a liberal support of the department of immigration.

The lower house of the Delaware legislature has passed a bill prohibiting pawnbrokers from accepting as collateral for money loans any wearing apparel or tools. The practice, which is said to work great hardship upon families and innocent women and children, has recently attained vast proportions in some of the larger cities.

An anti-lobbying bill of a most sweeping character has been introduced in the Alabama legislature. The measure requires all persons coming to the capitol to work for or against a bill, to register and to give the nature of their business together with the compensation they are receiving for their services. If the bill becomes a law it will render lobbying prac-

Some opposition to the re-election of Senator Long in Kansas two years hence appears to be cropping out. According to political gossip in Topeka some of the republican leaders in the western part of the state are preparing to put forward Congressman Victor Murdock as a candidate against Long. Those who stand sponsor for the movement declare that Murdock is growing constantly in popularity, and is sure to be advanced to higher places. Friends of Long, on the other hand, declare that Murdock will not enter the race against Long and that there will be no opposition to the latter's re-election when the time arrives.

GEORGIA IN SORRY PLIGHT

(Tribune Special Service.) ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 6.—Foes of the liquor traffic gathered here in force today to perfect the organization of the Georgia Anti-Saloon league and to discuss plans for getting an anti-liquor measure through the present legislature. The temperance element is of the opinion that Georgia is on the verge of demoralization and will go to the bad entirely unless the demon Rum is set upon good and hard.

The call for the present gathering sets forth a condition of affairs rather startling to those who have lived in blissful ignorance of the facts. The call states, among other things, that "There are 120 dry counties in Georgia, and 26 wet counties, and every dry county in the state is a common dumping ground for the heartless wet counties. And vain are the protests and pitiful are the cries for mercy, but the jug train runs right on, and every year the people of our beloved state, from the mountains to the seaboard, are being debauched by these few wet counties. The time has come to call a halt. The people have been outraged and sinned against long enough. Relief must come."

FOR MCKINLEY'S MEMORIAL

(Tribune Special Service.) WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 6.—At a meeting of the trustees of the Mey Memorial association at the Hotel Arlington today favorable reports were received regarding the progress on the McKinley monument at Canton, which it is hoped will be completed and ready for dedication this summer. Vice President Fairbanks, who is chairman of the endowment fund committee, presided over the meeting.

MANITOBA GRAIN GROWERS MEET

(Tribune Special Service.) BRANDON, Man., Feb. 6.—There was a good attendance today at the opening of the annual meeting of the Manitoba Grain Growers' association. Numerous matters are scheduled for discussion during the three days of the convention, but the most attention will probably be given to the alleged illegal combination of prominent dealers and elevator men in restraint of trade.

It is generally conceded abroad that a prodigious merger of French and Italian auto manufacturers is
